III Trapist Beer (beers made in a abey)

Chimay Bleue

This is a beer whose fragrance of fresh yeast with a light, flowery rosy touch is especially pleasant.

Orval

In contrast to all the others, the Orval Trappist brewery makes only one beer for the general public. It has an intensely aromatic and dry character. Between the first and second fermentations there is also an additional dry-hopping process. Through this the beer acquires its pronounced hoppy aroma and extra dry taste.

Rochefort

This is the middle of the three in strength, identified by a green cap and the number 8. It has a loose, bubbly head that subsides but leaves delicate lacework on the glass. The beer itself is dark brown in colour, with lots of dark, dryish fruit aromas.

IV Extra Beer

Bush Amber

Its amber colour is due to the use of caramel malt in the production process. Bush Amber, the strongest Belgian beer, has an alcohol content of 12%.

Delirium Tremens

The beer Delirium Tremens is a tripple. Besides the fabulous taste the beer is famous because the bottles are white and covered with a pink elephant. If you drink too much of Delirium Tremens you can get very ill : Delirium Tremens is also the name of a disease for people who are addicted to alcohol.

Duvel

Duvel has a fruity dry aroma, owed to the finest hops, that reminds experts like Michael Jackson of Poire William concerning its bouquet and pallet. Its dry but still alcohol-sweet flavour makes the beer an excellent thirst-quencher, with a pronounced hop aroma.
